To Change Out Your Holiday Lighting

Holiday lights are great. They bring life to the holiday seasons, brightening up neighborhoods and cities all over the world. But if you're still fumbling around with boxes of incandescent bulbs tied in knots, it's probably time to change your holiday lighting choice to some new, energy efficient LED strands.

As soon as you plug in your new LED lighting the savings begin! That's because LED lighting uses about 90 percent less electricity than incandescent bulbs. That's good for the environment, and good for your electric bills.

Because they use less energy, more light strands can be connected end to end, as many as 45 strands of LEDs versus only 4 strands of incandescent lights. This speeds up installation and gets you back on the couch faster to watch football with your family.

Take advantage of LEDs! They are durable, watertight, produce little or no heat, AND can last up to 50,000 hours.

Remember, just because winter is coming, doesn't necessarily mean that we will get the rain we so desperately need here in California. So please, continue to do your part to reduce water use at home and at work!

With cooler temperatures, you can probably reduce your watering schedule even more. Change your sprinkler timers to run less, and check your systems for leaks, which can waste thousands of gallons.
